Five lockeys had a miraculous escape from fatal injuries in the second race at Aqueduct yesterday. The accident occurred in the second race for two-year-olds at a mile and seventy yards, and for a time created the greatest excitement throughout the crowd, especially among the women. Fourteen horses ran, and as they reached the far turn Epidemic, riaden by Boiesen, stumbled and feil, throwing the boy under the feet of the other contenders. In an instant Franklin C., with Minder up. Glendon with Salling, Ithan with Gannon and Blue Delft with Redfern, went down in a heap, the boys tumbling headlong to the track, where all of them were apparently trampled upon. The women screamed and turned Judge Hall hurried to the spot in his light wagon where Redfern, Gannon and Boiesen were on their feet, unburt, waiting to get aboard. The ambulance brought the other boys to the paddock, where it was found that they were suffering from slight bruises. The winner turned up in Harrison, one of the rumored good things that started, the colt beating Gallant Smith by a neck in a hot drive. Watkins's Overton, 12 to 1, was third, a length back, and six lengths before the Thomas D. Reilly of the Queens County Jockey rest of the meeting at Aqueduct, on the ground Racing to take such action, the stewards yesterday decided to make an investigation on their own account relative to the alleged inand-out running of Aste's two-year-old Plater in the Creedmore Stakes and the Lynbrook Handica p last Wednesday and Friday, re-spectively. Accordingly, C. H. Pettingill, Frank T. Clarke and W. S. Vosburgh, who are presiding at Aqueduct, again called Aste before them and went deeply into the details of the two races. When the day's sport was over, the stewards said that they were still cision for several days. Meanwhile Aste will be allowed to run his horses.

Plunger Charley" Ellison made himself felt in the betting ring yesterday. He began by backing his colt Watkins Overton, in the second race, getting 12, 5 and 2 across the board. As the colt ran third, Ellison saved his money. It was in the fourth race, how-ever, that Ellison pulled off one of the best tricks of the meeting. The opening betting against his colt. Harry New, was 10 to 1. Eli-on got his money down all over the ring in such a quiet manner that the price gradually dropped to sevens. Meanwhile Flying Jib. Old Hutch and Bornthert were drawing the talent's money in chunks, so that the layers felt safe in taking chances with Eilison's colt. When Harry New won all the way Ellison was warmly congratulated. He took about $20,000 out of the ring. One of the heaviest winners over Knight of worst of all. When the barrier was released True Blue, 20 to 1, and Snark, 12 to 1, were away running, with the others tangled up, and both Blanket and Gennellie, who carried the bulk of the smart money, being left standing still. True Blue led into the stretch, where Snark, neatly handled by young Cantwell, came on and won by two lengths, with True Blue four lengths before Malden, 10 to 1, who beat Rappenecker a neck.

The start in the Woodmere Stakes for three-year-olds and upward at seven furlongs was also straggling. L. Waterbury's Sadqueee, who with Clorita was a coupled second choice at 9 to 5, being left. The Musketer, 11 to 10, favorite, made all the running and won by a head, with G. Whittier, Belvino and outside the judges' stand, awaiting anxiously the decision. When the red boards went up he indulged in a jig step and burried away to get his money. Schaffer and Myer have
